

National Science Foundation Science Research Project Competition 2019

Yenuli Fernando emerged a winner at the National Science Foundation Science Research Project Competition 2019.

The title of her research was 'Differences in serum markers of oxidative stress in well controlled and poorly controlled asthmatic children in Sri Lanka.'