Junior Production

This year's Junior School production of 'The Tale of Beauty and the Beast' was a heart-warming story of love overcoming villainy. This timeless classic reminds us that we must never judge people by their physical appearance and that personality, not looks is what really matters in human relationships.

The stage was set, the costumes were donned, and the excitement was palpable. Our students not only embraced the challenges of their academic curriculum but also demonstrated exceptional commitment to the arts. The skills they honed during the preparation for this production extended beyond the spotlight, fostering teamwork, creativity, and a deep appreciation for the performing arts.
